PairTalk service policies

Version 2026-10-16 | Effective 16 October 2026

Read these policies before using PairTalk. They explain purchases and public offers, your privacy choices, respectful speaking practice and refunds. Agree to this version in the bot before registered practice; recording always needs separate agreement with your partner.

Terms of use

Effective 16 October 2026. These terms cover PairTalk peer speaking practice, purchases, public offers, recordings and account use. Read them and the privacy policy before agreeing in the bot.

Published policy: https://pairtalk.online/terms

Acceptance and eligibility

By accessing or using PairTalk through the website, Telegram bot, or Mini App, you agree to these terms. If you do not agree, do not use the service.

Registration in the Telegram bot requires reading the versioned Terms of Use PDF and explicitly agreeing before continuing. You can request the document again using /terms. Recording a call requires separate agreement with your partner.

You must be at least 13 years old, or the minimum age of digital consent in your jurisdiction. Users under the age of majority require parent or guardian permission. A valid Telegram account is required and you must meet Telegram's current age rules, including any higher regional minimum. Guardian permission does not bypass Telegram's eligibility rules. You are responsible for your account's security. Creating multiple accounts or automated accounts to exploit rewards or rankings is prohibited.

Peer practice and its limits

PairTalk connects learners for IELTS speaking simulations and conversational practice. Partners are peers. PairTalk does not issue official IELTS certificates or test report forms and does not guarantee any examination result.

Follow the community guidelines (https://pairtalk.online/community-guidelines) and safety guide (https://pairtalk.online/safety). Harassment, hate speech, explicit content, commercial solicitation, automated abuse, and attempts to compromise the service are prohibited. Violations can result in warnings, temporary suspension, or permanent bans.

Calls, recordings, payments, and legacy subscriptions

New eligible accounts can claim three one-time 15-minute call units after joining @pairtalk and passing a server membership check. Leaving and rejoining does not repeat the gift. Previously granted balances remain available. Paid calls and recordings do not expire before use and do not renew automatically. Choose a 15- or 30-minute duration; a 30-minute call or recording uses two 15-minute units and costs exactly twice its rounded 15-minute price in the same currency. Recordings cannot exceed the calls in a purchased pack. Optional retention covers every recording in that pack and lasts 30 days from audio creation. Without retention, server copies are removed after confirmed delivery or within a 24-hour recovery window. Telegram may retain a delivered copy independently.

Prices are set by the administrator and shown before checkout. The initial 15-minute prices are 3,500 UZS per call and 4,200 UZS per recording, plus 3 UZS per recording for 30-day retention. Stars are calculated separately for each 15-minute service: divide its UZS price by the editable UZS-per-Star reference, add 25 percent and round up to a whole Star. The initial reference is 255 UZS, based on the owner's 100 Stars for 25,500 UZS reference. This gives 18 Stars per 15-minute call and 21 Stars per recording. Retention is calculated once for the pack and rounded up separately. Regional taxes, app-store charges and purchase methods can change what you pay to acquire Stars; the reference is not a guaranteed exchange rate. Your approved order keeps its recorded total if prices later change.

Stars payments use Telegram's official invoice. Where the UZS option is offered, choosing it queues private bot payment instructions and closes the Mini App. Pending instructions or a submitted receipt do not add a balance: the administrator must verify the transfer. Check the order number, payee and total, and submit proof before the checkout deadline. Contact /paysupport if you transferred money but the checkout expired or delivery is uncertain; do not pay again. Existing subscriptions retain their original purchase terms.

A full purchase refund can be requested within 48 hours of payment when the complete purchased quantities remain available and unreserved. Failed connections and calls with fewer than five authorised seconds return their reserved call; failed recording exports return recording and storage add-ons. Existing subscription refunds keep their original rules. Use /refund or contact support. See the refund policy (https://pairtalk.online/refund-policy) for payment-specific settlement information.

Public offers and optional reminders

Discount packs are published in @pairtalk and shown in Plans. Each campaign can be purchased once per account, subject to the displayed participant count and expiry. The discount is applied to the complete original pack total separately in UZS and Stars, with the result rounded up to whole currency units. A 20 percent discount means paying 80 percent of the original total. A 100 percent offer is claimed without a payment invoice.

An unpaid checkout can temporarily reserve a place for up to 30 minutes or until the offer ends, whichever comes first. Starting checkout does not guarantee a purchase after that deadline. New claims stop when the campaign sells out or expires, even if an old channel message remains visible. Already authorised payments are honoured. Cancel an unpaid checkout before choosing a different currency; a payment awaiting confirmation must be resolved first. Refunds do not make a campaign claim reusable.

Practice, unfinished-checkout, peak-activity and community reminders are optional and start off. Choose categories and quiet hours in Account or use /notifications. Use /stop_notifications to stop optional private messages. We apply at least 24 hours between optional reminders and recheck relevance before sending. Joining the channel does not enable these messages. Requested receipts, necessary account notices and safety messages are separate.

Intellectual property and independence

PairTalk software, designs, logos, and algorithms are the platform's proprietary intellectual property. References to IELTS criteria and formats are for educational description.

IELTS is a trademark of its owners. PairTalk is not affiliated with, endorsed by, or sponsored by Cambridge, the British Council, or IDP. Official format and assessment information should be checked with IELTS (https://ielts.org).

Availability and liability

PairTalk is provided "as is" and "as available," without warranties of any kind. The service is not responsible for the personal conduct, opinions, or statements of speaking partners, and provides tools to leave and report calls.

To the maximum extent permitted by applicable law, PairTalk's aggregate liability for claims arising out of or related to these terms shall not exceed the amount paid by the user to PairTalk in the three months preceding the incident.

PairTalk is intended for educational peer speaking practice. You are responsible for unlawful or prohibited use, your statements, the information you disclose and any unauthorised redistribution of another person's audio. We do not approve private arrangements between participants. These limits do not exclude rights that cannot lawfully be excluded, or remove our responsibility where applicable law requires it. Reports are reviewed but continuous live supervision and immediate moderation are not promised.

Changes and contact

The service may amend its terms. Material changes are communicated through the Telegram bot or an updated terms page. A new versioned agreement requires explicit acceptance in the bot before registered practice continues. A later price change applies to new checkouts; it does not rewrite an already authorised payment.

For account, billing, privacy, or terms questions, contact @PairTalkSupport (https://t.me/PairTalkSupport).

Privacy policy

Effective 16 October 2026. PairTalk uses account and session information to provide speaking practice, fulfil purchases and respond to safety concerns. This policy explains that processing and your choices.

Published policy: https://pairtalk.online/privacy

Account and practice data

The service stores your numeric Telegram ID, generated alias, self-assessed bands and preferences, subscription status, and practice activity. Call metadata includes participants, timing, duration, status, ratings, and submitted feedback or reports. Payment records support billing and refunds.

Partners are shown your PairTalk alias rather than your Telegram contact information. The public statistics page exposes aggregate figures, not account identities, private comments, recordings, or payment details.

We also keep purchased call, recording and retention balances, checkout totals and status, campaign claims, starter-gift eligibility, notification preferences, last activity and notification delivery outcomes. These records prevent duplicate charges, gifts and claims, recover interrupted work and apply your messaging choices. We check your channel membership through Telegram when you request the starter gift; joining does not subscribe you to private promotional messages.

Voice calls and optional recordings

Voice calls use WebRTC transport encryption and media infrastructure. Transport encryption is not a promise of end-to-end encryption inaccessible to the media service.

Cloud recording is optional and requires agreement. Purchased recordings have optional 30-day storage from creation. Without storage, a server copy is kept only for delivery recovery, up to 24 hours, and may be removed after all owners receive it in Telegram. Legacy Free, Plus, Pro and Boss recording entitlements retain their original retention rules. Check History for the file's exact availability. Expired recordings are scheduled for deletion and cannot be restored after removal.

Service infrastructure

Telegram provides account authentication and the Mini App environment. LiveKit infrastructure handles calls, PostgreSQL and Redis support service state, and configured object storage supports recordings. Hosting and security infrastructure process technical requests needed to operate the website and app.

Do not assume that a partner alias makes everything you say anonymous. Keep identifying information out of conversations and avoid publishing another person's audio without permission.

Hosting, media delivery and storage providers may process information outside your country. Telegram receives messages and delivered audio under its own privacy policy. Private calls are not represented as public question-library data. Do not submit confidential information in speaking prompts, reports or support messages.

Access, deletion, and support

You can view your current account settings, plan, and call history in the app. The existing policy provides for requests to access or delete account data through @PairTalkSupport (https://t.me/PairTalkSupport) or the bot's billing support command, /paysupport. Its support team will explain the request and any verification needed.

Contact support for questions about a recording, payment record, or data request. Do not post private account information in a public channel.

Necessary account, payment, fraud-prevention and dispute records may need to remain after account closure for the purposes for which they are required. Deleting PairTalk data does not delete files already delivered to Telegram, downloaded by another participant or retained by that participant. Ask support about a specific record or request.

Payments and refunds

A full unused purchase can be refunded within 48 hours if the complete purchased quantities remain available and unreserved. Use /refund in Telegram. Eligible Stars refunds return the original payment. Existing subscription purchases keep their original 48-hour or less-than-10%-used eligibility rules and applicable account restrictions. Supported legacy card refunds are reviewed and ordinarily settle within 1-3 business days.

See the subscription terms (https://pairtalk.online/terms#payments) and contact billing support for your specific transaction.

New UZS pack payments are manually verified. Request a refund through /refund from the paying account. While a full unused-purchase refund is reviewed, its quantities are reserved and cannot be spent. Confirmation completes the refund; a rejected refund restores that reservation once. A provider's pending or uncertain response is not a completed refund. Contact /paysupport before submitting a second payment or another refund for the same transaction.

Free gifts and zero-price offers have no payment to return. Partial pack refunds are not automated. Purchase and account checks apply, but this policy does not remove mandatory rights under applicable law. Processing time can depend on the payment provider and review; we do not promise instant settlement.

Community guidelines

PairTalk exists for English speaking practice. A welcoming community depends on respectful behavior and a fair chance for everyone to participate.

Published policy: https://pairtalk.online/community-guidelines

Respect the person behind the voice

No harassment, hate speech, threats, sexual content, bullying, or discrimination. Respect differences in accent, background, ability, and opinion. Do not pressure someone to discuss a topic they have declined.

Give both partners time to speak. Listen patiently; interrupting to correct every mistake can make practice less useful.

Make feedback specific and kind

Comment on what your partner said rather than making judgments about them. "Your example helped me understand your point" is more useful than a vague score. Ask whether they want detailed corrections.

Ratings should reflect the interaction honestly. Do not trade ratings, coordinate fake reviews, or retaliate because someone left a call.

Keep the space for practice

No advertising, commercial solicitation, spam, impersonation, or scams. Do not use bots, duplicate accounts, or automated queue activity to exploit limits, referrals, or competitions.

Protect the service and other learners. Do not attempt to bypass security, access another account, or disrupt calls.

Do not use PairTalk for dating, sexual solicitation, recruiting, political campaigning, gambling, fraud or collecting personal data. Do not exchange payment details with a practice partner, impersonate a tutor or examiner, or sell access to another account. Gift and campaign limits apply to the person using the account; creating extra accounts to collect them again is abuse.

Ask before recording and stop if either partner withdraws agreement. Do not publish, sell, train models on or reuse another person's voice without their permission and any consent required by law. Use reports honestly and include only details needed for review.

Reports and moderation

Leave an inappropriate call and submit a report through the post-call flow. Reports and feedback can inform moderation. The existing policy allows warnings, temporary suspension, and permanent bans depending on the behavior and history.

If you believe a restriction was applied incorrectly, use the appeal flow offered by the bot or contact support. A report is not permission to publish another learner's private information.

Refund policy

Request a refund through the PairTalk bot. Eligibility depends on your purchase, usage and account status.

Published policy: https://pairtalk.online/refund-policy

When a refund may be available

A full unused purchase can be refunded within 48 hours if the complete purchased quantities remain available and unreserved. Use /refund in Telegram. Eligible Stars refunds return the original payment. Existing subscription purchases keep their original 48-hour or less-than-10%-used eligibility rules and applicable account restrictions. Supported legacy card refunds are reviewed and ordinarily settle within 1-3 business days.

See the subscription terms (https://pairtalk.online/terms#payments) and contact billing support for your specific transaction.

New UZS pack payments are manually verified. Request a refund through /refund from the paying account. While a full unused-purchase refund is reviewed, its quantities are reserved and cannot be spent. Confirmation completes the refund; a rejected refund restores that reservation once. A provider's pending or uncertain response is not a completed refund. Contact /paysupport before submitting a second payment or another refund for the same transaction.

Free gifts and zero-price offers have no payment to return. Partial pack refunds are not automated. Purchase and account checks apply, but this policy does not remove mandatory rights under applicable law. Processing time can depend on the payment provider and review; we do not promise instant settlement.

How to request a refund

Use /refund in the PairTalk bot from the account that made the purchase. Choose the purchase and follow the bot's instructions. The bot checks purchase ownership, payment state and eligibility before proceeding.

For help with a specific transaction, use /paysupport or contact PairTalk support (https://t.me/PairTalkSupport). Keep receipt and account information out of public channels.
